HDK visits Ch. Hill Temple

To take oath as CM with Parameshwara as Dy. CM at 4.30 pm today

Chief Minister-designate H.D. Kumaraswamy and his wife Anitha Kumaraswamy perform special pujas at Chamundeshwari Temple atop the Chamundi Hill this morning. Temple Chief Priest Dr. Shashishekar Dikshit is also seen.

Mysuru, May 23 (RK,PM& BCT)- After standing testimony to a high-pitched and bitter election campaign, the State will witness the second swearing-in ceremony in less than a week when Chief Minister-designate H.D. Kumaraswamy of the JD(S) will take oath on the flight of stairs of the Vidhana Soudha at 4.30 pm today. He will assume office along with Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara of the Congress and run a coalition government.

Ahead of his swearing-in ceremony, Kumaraswamy visited the Chamundeshwari Temple atop the Chamundi Hill this morning. He arrived in a chartered helicopter at the Lalitha Mahal Helipad at around 10.11 am (delayed by over two hours) and drove to Chamundi Temple and reached there at 10.45 am.

Dressed in white shirt, white dhoti with a gold-colour border, the CM-designate along with his wife Anitha Kumaraswamy was given a Poorna Kumbha welcome with supporters and party workers shouting slogans hailing the new Chief Minister. Kumaraswamy and Anitha entered the sanctum sanctorum of the temple and performed special pujas to the Goddess. The rituals were performed by Chamundi Temple Chief Priest Dr. Shashishekar Dikshit.

Inside the temple, the family of Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda presented Ambari-laden silver elephant figurine to the Kumaraswamy couple. Devegowda's wife Lalitha and son G.D. Harish Gowda were present. Kumaraswamy also offered prayers to Mahabaleshwara Temple atop the Chamundi Hill. Usually VVIPs who come to the Hill Temple perform pujas only to Goddess Chamundeshwari and leave the venue. Kumaraswamy broke the tradition today and followed the practice of performing pujas to Mahabaleshwara.

Addressing reporters, Kumaraswamy said that he had began his election campaign and had launched his campaign vehicle "Vikasa Vahini" from the Chamundi Temple and he had come here to pray to the Goddess as part of the sankalpa for making him the Chief Minister. "I believe in Goddess Chamundeshwari, Sringeri Sharadambe and our family deity Lord Shiva. I staunchly believe that without divine intervention, my becoming the CM was impossible," he said.

On the nitty-gritty of his government, he said that he will take his coalition partner Congress before taking any policy decision.

Republic in Retrospect

Taking stock of the perspective being talked and written about by the country's diaspora across the wide cross section of society as they visualise the current goings on in the land can both be fascinating and disturbing for different reasons, depending on knowledge and understanding of the diverse factors causing and contributing to the scenario. However, the image of the land, given its hoary past, has been described in glorious terms by both chroniclers of the past and scholars of our times, highlighting a) The philosophical writings of the luminaries of their times; b) Refined culture nurtured through literary works, music, sculpture, art, dance, yoga, ayurveda, simple lifestyle and delicacies that have sustained even to this day; c) Rich stock of diamond, gold, silver, copper and also spices; d) Highly-rated institutions of learning luring students surging from far off lands, e) Monarchs who ruled over large tracts of the land and warriors, including women, who guarded their territory from marauding invaders before getting overpowered (thanks to intrigues by local elements).

The image of the land in retrospect against its perspective obtained in post-independent India prompts one to ponder over the entire gamut of circumstances leading to the situation that the country and its people find themselves in. The nearly three centuries of rule first by Moghuls and later by the British colonialists, being often blamed for the country's downward fortune tells a long story in which the Indian character of inability to see eye-to-eye on all matters stands out, more so at present times.

Juxtaposing the country's glorious past covering several centuries and the happenings in a comparatively short span of seven decades being reported in the media generates euphoric feelings of pride and also a sense of depression that successive generations ungrudgingly let go of the great opportunity to endure the multitude of ingredients of that past glory gifted by the people of earlier generations. Further, to expect the land's masses to give up their current lifestyle marked by the pace dictated by modern gadgetry as well as advances in science-derived knowledge and emulate the people of the bygone era doesn't hold water. The trees guarded by our ancestors in the forests for ages as well as those raised in their living spaces including roadsides and avenues of cities have gone into pages of history.

The land's social history and the chroniclers of its past economy and administration provides unquestionable testimony to its enviable global rating as the best country, a verdict hard to believe considering its present perspective. If the ongoing slide from the now-extinct past norms of life zealously adhered by the nation's diaspora until the dawn of 20th century to chaotic state of the Republic being witnessed nowadays, taking its view in retrospect shatters one's mind.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Subramania Bharati remains unique among poets in the world. Not because he attained fame and recognition posthumously after a life of poverty and deprivation, but because his poetry was resuscitated after his death in the most contemporary medium prevalent in pre-Independent India: The gramophone. Still later and even today, he continues to be invoked by the Tamils, with their hoary tradition of poetry that is one of the oldest in the world, through the Tamil people's enduring modern day love: Films and movie songs. Bharati is not known to have listened to gramophone recordings, or sound recordings in any form, or even stepped into a cinema hall. He would have been amazed to learn that poems could earn money by being used in these new media. — Sudha G. Tilak in Business Standard.

Hospital corridor as parking lot !

Sir,

I wish to bring to the notice of the authorities concerned about the misuse of the corridors of K.R. Hospital premises that also houses the prestigious Jayadeva Heart Hospital.

Inside the corridor of Jayadeva one can find hundreds of cardiac patients and their families waiting for the doctors anxiously. Unfortunately, some employees are creating a nuisance by riding their vehicle right into the corridor and park them inside the hospital building.

Secondly, the obnoxious exhaust is lingering inside the building causing untold misery to the patients. One can smell the exhaust even in the second floor. As a result, the dirt and grime stuck on the tyres is spread right into this critical care hospital, putting the patient at risk of infection and contamination.

My question to the authorities concerned is: 'Why all this is happening right under your nose?' Or have you turned a blind eye towards it. Either way the patient is put to risk as well as agony. This is against the tenet of any health care centre.

I, on behalf of the general public and the patients, request the concerned to take immediate action in stopping this nuisance at the earliest. I hope the matter is looked into with humanity.

Kerala travellers to be screened for Nipah symptoms: Mysuru DC

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar seen addressing reporters at his office in Mysuru yesterday as District Surgeon and In-charge District Health Officer Dr. N. Pashupathi and District Vector-Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara look on.

Mysuru, May 23 (YDS&BCT)- Mysuru is on high alert, especially in areas bordering Kerala, after 11 people died of the mysterious Nipah Virus (NiV) in Kozhikode over the last few days.

The Karnataka State Health and Family Welfare Department has directed Primary Health Centres (PHCs) in Chamarajanagar, Kodagu and Mysuru districts, which share the border with Kerala, to be alert and to report any patients from Kerala with suspected Nipah cases, said Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar.

He was speaking to reporters at his office last evening on the measures taken by the District Administration to curb the spread of the deadly virus. The DC also chaired a meeting with health authorities and reviewed the preventive measures.

He said those travelling to Kerala should be cautious when and if they come in contact with Nipah-infected people. "Avoid eating fruits fallen on the ground and drinking raw date palm sap. Avoid coming in contact with sick domestic animals and pigs," he said.

As a lot of tourists from Kerala visit the major tourist destinations in Mysuru almost every day, the DC said adequate precautionary measures, including setting up isolation wards in the State-run K.R. Hospital, Cheluvamba Hospital and Epidemic Diseases Hospital, have been taken.

So far, there have been no suspected cases in the district. Private hospitals have been directed to set aside at least five beds for emergency treatment of patients with flu-like symptoms, he added.

Disease screening

As part of the precautions, the health department has decided to screen travellers from Nipah affected areas — Kozhikode and Malappuram districts of Kerala — for 18 days if they exhibit flu-like symptoms. Chamarajanagar, Mysuru, Kodagu, Dakshina Kannada, Uttara Kannada, Udupi, Shivamogga and Chikkamagaluru health officers have been instructed to file a daily outbreak report of Nipah virus.

Contagious disease

Nipah virus infection spreads from animals to humans and can cause severe conditions. The natural host of the virus are fruit bats of Pteropodidae family - Pteropus genus. The virus transmits through direct contact with infected bats, pigs or from other NiV-infected people through touch or body fluids. The disease is contagious and can spread from person-to-person, he said.

The infection in humans can cause a wide range of clinical presentations, from asymptomatic (no symptoms) to acute respiratory syndrome (cough, breathlessness and respiratory distress) and fatal encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

High mortality rate

After exposure to virus, symptoms start after an incubation period of 5-14 days. Usual symptoms are fever and headache for 3-10 days followed by drowsiness, confusion and seizures. Signs and symptoms can progress rapidly to coma and death in 24-48 hours. Nipah Virus encephalitis is fatal with a high mortality rate.

The Deputy Commissioner also said that fruits grown in trees such as papaya, chikku (sapota), and mango with bite marks should not be eaten as they may have been bitten by fruit-eating bats. It is better to avoid cut fruits sold on the streets but there is no threat to eating fruits at home after confirming they do not have bite marks. The HOPCOMs here had been directed to properly discard waste fruits, he said.

Patients to be quarantined

Sankar said awareness, case detection and symptomatic treatment with standard procedures would get priority. If fever and other symptoms don't subside even after symptomatic treatment, the patient will be isolated for continuing the treatment in separation with round-the-clock observation. He asked school and college authorities to educate students and take adequate precautions as the infection can spread from an infected person to a healthy person.

As the infection can spread from fruit bats to pigs, instructions had been given for educating people rearing pigs in the district to take precautions, he said, adding that pig owners should not feed discarded and rotten fruit to pigs.

Advisory material

Tourists heading towards Kerala and people coming from there will be given advisory materials on the dos and don'ts. These materials, printed in Kannada, English and Malayalam, will be distributed at bus stands to spread awareness.

District Vector-Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara said there is no prescribed treatment to Nipah infection. On contracting the virus, the patient can get encephalitis and could slip into coma if he or she is not treated immediately.

The return of 'poor humble farmer' Deve Gowda marks remarkable phase in politics

New Delhi, May 23 (UNI)- The self-proclaimed 'poor humble farmer' Haradanahalli Doddegowda Deve Gowda might have been humbled more than once but when the going gets tough — every time — he seems to strike back with a vengeance.

The joke in the corridors of political party offices and such destinations in the capital these days is what is common between Sonia Gandhi and H.D. Deve Gowda. Needless to say the answer is pretty innocuous one — both are good parents and both want proper rehabilitation in career graph for their sons.

For Deve Gowda, who turned 86 on May 18, the opportunism or rather political pragmatism has been a virtue. In 2006, political observers in Bengaluru say suddenly after his son H.D. Kumaraswamy's 20-month stint as Chief Minister (with BJP as supporting ally), the 'senior Gowda' and his son realised that they should not be seen propping up a BJP government in Karnataka when the likes of Prakash Karat of CPI-M were talking about withdrawing support to Manmohan Singh government over the Nuclear deal.

The same Janata Dal - Secular (JD-S) — now only a splinter and State-level outfit from one-time mammoth socialist Janata Parivar — is back again into the Congress fold and — not to miss the crucial point— Kumaraswamy will be the new CM.

"The fact that JD(S) could win only 37 seats in 224-member Assembly did not stop the over ambitions of Gowda family. The Congress is only adding to their ego just because they want to stop BJP come to power," says BJP leader N.C. Shaina.

Ironically, a JD(S)-Congress advertisement in newspaper carries photograph of socialist icon Jayaprakash Narayan, who pioneered 'Indira Hatao' nationwide movement, along with Rahul Gandhi.

Some see it as veteran Deve Gowda's political complexity, others have tried to play it down. A Congress source said the grand-old-party has learnt to respect all political stalwarts irrespective of their affiliations. Moreover, there is already a controversy going as former PM Deve Gowda has already held a meeting with senior civil servants and Police officials.

Nevertheless, Deve Gowda's political opportunism is not new as within months of becoming PM he forced Janata Dal leadership to expel legendary socialist veteran Ramakrishna Hegde,

"The fact that JD(S) could win only 37 seats in 224-member Assembly did not stop the over ambitions of Gowda family. The Congress is only adding to their ego just because they want to stop BJP come to power." — BJP leader N.C. Shaina

long time "political mentor and benefactor" of Gowda.

Deve Gowda, born on May 18, 1933, was the 12th Prime Minister after the fall of 13-day-long first BJP government at the Centre. The move to prop up Deve Gowda, a hitherto 'mofussil' variety leader as Prime Minister of India, particularly at the instance of communists and CPI-M leader Harkishan Singh Surjeet had earned criticism even from Left-minded intellectuals.

The late Nikhil Chakravarthy, otherwise wedded to the Leftist ideology, did not approve of the move. This was in 1996 and the timing had coincided with CPI(M) hardliners led by Prakash Karat refusing patriarch Jyoti Basu to don the mantle of Prime Ministership. It is another chapter Basu later called it a "historic blunder".

Born into a farming family, Gowda has always made a virtue of this background and as PM earned the niche for addressing as a "poor humble farmer." Now that his party has managed power yet again, it remains to be seen what role the blessed Lucky Old Boy of Indian politics has cut out for himself in the national politics.

It goes without saying that Deve Gowda's detractors would unhesitatingly dub him as a fervently ambitious man both for himself and his kin, especially son Kumaraswamy. His stint in the seat of power in South Bloc was cut short in 1997 when the then low profile Congress President Sitaram Kesari went to the Rashtrapati Bhavan and withdrew support. In a spirited reply in Lok Sabha later, Gowda called Kesari an old man in hurry.

Now, back to the federal front politics of 2018-19 — all eyes will be on the machinations of regional players and, of course, the Congress and communists. Importantly, it remains to be seen how could other regional players — equally ambitious if not more — deal with the new changed scenario even as Banerjee has been consistently counselling JD(S) and Congress to work together.

For other regional leaders like Chandrababu Naidu, who was convenor of United Front when Deve Gowda was PM, politics seemed to have come a full circle.

Curiously, in 2016, Naidu told a visiting group of journalists in Tirupati that in 1996 he too was offered Prime Ministership but he declined only when his son (now a Minister in Andhra Pradesh) had told him that such a post will be only a 'temporary job'.

In this week's Pet Talk,
Maneka gives tips on treatment and prevention of diarrhoea in horses and explains what has to be done if horse has ringworm?

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Can I get some tips on treatment and prevention of diarrhoea in horses?

Make sure your horse is eating and drinking normally. If, after 24 hours, the diarrhoea is not gone, it is time to call the vet. If the diarrhoea isn't caused by something obvious that you know will pass, then it's time to discover other possible causes. Start to worry if along with diarrhoea, your horse also shows any of the following symptoms: • Extremely watery manure; • Blood or mucus in the manure; • Foul smelling manure (beyond the normal manure smell); • Diarrhoea lasts more than twenty-four hours; • "Projectile pooping"; • Other colic symptoms; • A change in TPRs that suggest the horse has a fever; • Lethargy - low energy; • Signs of weight loss or other health problems before diarrhoea started; • There are signs of dehydration.

Avoiding diarrhoea is very like avoiding colic. Avoid rapid changes in feeds. Introduce horses to lush pastures gradually. Keep feeds such as grains and concentrated locked down so horses that might get loose can't help themselves. De-worm your horse regularly. Vaccinate your horse with the core vaccines and any that are appropriate for your area.

What to do if your horse has ringworm?

The horse should be treated with anti-fungal wash. Some vets may suggest shaving the area. Because the fungus will persist on the horse's brushes, tack and stable, all must be washed down with an anti-fungal solution to prevent further spread. The antibiotic Griseofulvin works well. The method of treatment is to include the antibiotic in the feed everyday for one week. It prevents the fungus from growing. Another antibiotic called Natamycin is active against ringworm and is used as a wash at the site of infection. It is important to cover the whole body to reach lesions that are not yet apparent. The treatment must be repeated every fourth day, at least three times. Keeping your horse in good health is the key to avoiding many problems. It is a good idea for each horse to have its own tack and brushes. If ringworm is suspected, the horse should be kept away from others until the lesions disappear.

Why do horses chew wood and how to solve the problem?

There are basically three reasons why horses chew wood:

• Boredom or Frustration: Horses kept in stalls, small paddocks, secluded from other horses, or fed largely concentrates, without enough fodder to keep them chewing over a long time, may become bored and chew fences for something to do.

• Nutritional Deficiencies: Very occasionally vitamin deficiencies may cause a horse to have pica — a taste for eating strange foodstuffs in an effort to alleviate the deficiency.

• Habit: Some horses may have learnt to gnaw wood from stable or pasture mates.

If you suspect pica, you need to have your veterinarian draw a blood sample and find out exactly what nutrients your horse may be missing. This way, you can supplement with the exact vitamin or mineral in the correct amounts. When we keep them cooped up, restrict their diets, keep them from being with other horses, or don't provide them with enough room to self-exercise, our horses may find other ways to vent their frustration and show their boredom. Allowing horses to live as naturally with other horses, outdoors with plenty of grass or hay to nibble on, can prevent wood chewing.

Can a horse get all of its nutrition by just eating grass?

On the best quality pasture, horses should be able to get all the nutrients they need. This, after all, is what they evolved to eat. Unfortunately, very few owners, though no fault of their own, have top quality pasture. Over-grazing, drought, freezing, poor management, poor soil, snow cover, all affect the quality of the grass and the horse's ability to extract adequate nutrition. Most horses will require supplementation with minerals, fodder, or concentrates, for at least part of the year.

Why does my horse drool so much?

In horses, saliva is produced from the salivary glands under and behind the jaw. The saliva is useful for breaking down food, as well as helping to form a sort of "buffer" against acid in the stomach, which can prevent stomach ulcers. Normal saliva production in a horse is about 40 litres each day. When your horse is drooling like one of those big dogs, it is either because there is more saliva than usual being produced, or because the horse is failing to swallow his saliva properly. The first step is to check your horse's mouth for any obvious broken teeth, or stuck objects that could be causing the drooling. Once you are sure it's clear, there are a few other things which could be causing your horse's drooling:

• Grass sickness is known to cause excessive salivation, alongside colic symptoms, lack of appetite and even a foul-smelling discharge from the nose. The disease causes damage to the nervous system, and so, most symptoms are related to neurological functions — including paralysis of the digestive tract and gut. Although highly uncommon, rabies can also cause excess salivation, but is fully preventable through vaccination.

• Another possible cause of excess salivation is when your horse has eaten something which is causing the drooling. One of the more common reasons for this is known as slobbers, and is often caused by clover. This condition isn't life threatening and doesn't need specific treatment per se, but it is, of course, important to remove the clover to stop the symptoms — your horse should return to normal fairly quickly after this.

• If there is a discharge from the nose, this usually indicates that there is a blockage somewhere. In this case, you should consider that your horse has "choke." This is when food gets stuck in the oesophagus and cannot pass to the stomach, so the horse "chokes." In this case you may also be able to see bits of food in the saliva and nasal discharge, and the horse will seem distressed. He may also bend and stretch his neck in an effort to dislodge the food. Remove any food and water from your horse, call your vet and try to keep the horse's head low, and him calm – usually, choke resolves by itself, but it may need treatment.

Saying it with feathers...

Peacocks and white-peacocks welcome the guests at the walk-through aviary of Mysuru Zoo at Karanji Lake Nature Park in city. The aviary constructed on the shore of the lake has a height of 20 m, length of 60 m and width of 40 m making it India's biggest walk-through aviary. The aviary was set up at a cost of Rs.3.8 million. It has about 40-50 birds of 17 species. Hornbills, peacocks, white-peacocks, turkeys and black swans are some of the birds found in this aviary.

MOVE TO REDUCE ROADKILLS

Buses to ply at 30 kmph via Chamarajanagar forests

Chamarajanagar, May 23 (SS &BCT)- In a major move that could reduce roadkills, the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) and Forest Department authorities have imposed speed restrictions on government and private buses passing through forest areas in Chamarajanagar district.

It may be mentioned here that National Tiger Conservation Authority, State Wildlife Board Member Sanjay Gubbi and other wildlife activists, including Santosh and Mahadevaprasad of Vanya Jagruthi Team, in an appeal to the Forest Department had requested it to drastically cut down the speed limits of the vehicles to prevent them from killing wild animals.

The appeal had pointed out that reckless driving through forest areas was a risk not only to wildlife, but also posed a danger to motorists as they could be stranded in the middle of nowhere in jungles.

Many National Highways and State Highways pass through Chamarajanagar including S. Begur - H.D. Kote Road, Kollegal - Hasanur Ghat Road, Gumballi - Hondarabalu Road, Hanur - MM Hills Road, Bandipur - Mangala Road, Ramapura - Koppa - Meenyam - Hoogyam, Nalroad, Talabetta - Ponnachi Road, Vaalar - Gopinatham Road, Gundlupet - Sultan Bathery Road, Gundlupet - Ooty Road and Chamarajanagar - Hasanur Road.

Picture for representation only

As they are highways, drivers move in break-neck speed and over-speeding usually results in roadkills. Taking note of the appeal, the Department has now imposed speed limit restrictions.

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) wrote to the Transport Department seeking speed restriction on all vehicles passing through forest areas.

For now, the Transport Department has reduced the speed limit of only government and private buses passing through forests to 30 kilometres per hour (kmph). However, wildlife activists have demanded that the revised speed limit of 30 kmph be extended to all vehicles passing through forest areas.

The district is rich in forests and wildlife and is home to Bandipur Tiger Reserve, BRT Tiger Sanctuary, Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary and MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary, all of which are criss-crossed by the State and National Highways. Though there are speed restrictions along certain stretches of roads passing though protected area, it was not followed by reckless motorists nor can it be monitored.

At present, there is a night ban on vehicular traffic via the National Highways and State Highways that connect Karnataka to Kerala at Bandipur Tiger reserve and Nagarahole National park.

Though there have been roadkills even after the ban on night traffic, they have come down drastically. The Bandipur and Nagarahole helped Mysuru achieve the distinction of being the tiger capital of the world. Apart from a significant decrease in the number of fatalities, the ban has allowed wild animals their space, said Forest Department officers.

They said that number of roadkills may be underestimated as many injured animals drag themselves off to die in the nearby shrubbery. Some carcasses are scavenged by other animals, which also fall prey to speeding vehicles. The total number of animals being killed on roads running through Bandipur and Nagarahole is unknown.

Over-speeding Ooty-bound KSRTC bus collides against bridge

An Ooty-bound KSRTC's luxury Airavata bus met with an accident yesterday morning near Raghavapura on the Bandipur National Highway. The bus was on its way from Bengaluru to Ooty and the over-speeding driver lost control resulting in the bus colliding against a small bridge. The impact of the accident was such that the front portion of the bus was damaged, glasses shattered and its front tyres were detached from the axle. Fortunately, no passenger was injured.

Elephant calf with bullet wounds rescued at Dubare

Siddapur, May 23- Forest Department officers have rescued an elephant calf that had bullet wounds on its body and after treatment, the calf has now been released to Dubare forest.

Some coffee planters at an estate at Injilagere near Siddapur had opened fire at the elephant calf and it was badly injured. The three-year-old calf was rescued by the Department officers and was brought into the Dubare elephant camp. The calf was not even in a position to walk.

At the elephant camp, enough care was taken under the leadership of Dr. Mujeeb and it was properly fed so that the calf does not lose weight. The pachyderm has completely recovered now and has been released to the Dubare forest. The calf was lifted to be placed in a truck and carried inside the forest where it was released, officials said.

Forest officers Maria Kristuraj, Rohini, Gopal, Devaiah and others were present.

40 horses screened at free health camp

Mysuru, May 23 (RKB&KS)- People For Animals (PFA), Mysuru, in association with Worldwide Veterinary Service (WVS), Ooty and Jeevan Daya Jain organisation, conducted a free health check-up and treatment camp for tonga horses near Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple here yesterday.

Veterinarians Dr. Ashwin and Dr. Twessa, along with a team of 40, conducted the camp and provided necessary treatment.

The team was supported by Murthy, Rajesh, Lingaraju and Tonga Association President Fayaz Ahmed.

Vitamin powder and other medicines were distributed free to horse owners on the occasion.

PFA Mysuru Chapter head Savitha Nagabhushan, who spoke on the occasion, said that the PFA will be conducting a free check-up and treatment camp for horses at Srirangapatna on May 23.

Naigayle of WVS, Ooty and others were present.

'Koronation' of King Kumar*anna*

In the midst of the "Snake and Ladder" game being played between Karnataka Congress and JD(S), the beloved son of H.D. Deve Gowda, the JD(S) Supremo, H.D. Kumaraswamy, would be crowned as the 25th Chief Minister of Karnataka to herald the 'Era of Kumara' — Kumara Parva — this evening.

With an unshakable belief that his son is unlike the sons of others, H.D. Deve Gowda has invited all the political giants from all corners of this vast country and is in a hurry to see the coronation of his son in their august presence.

Whatever the ecstasy of Deve Gowda, the shadow of fear about the possible future political turbulence is perceptible as we see the political demands, bargaining and even bickerings between the Congress and the JD(S) since the day the coalition was forged.

In this politically polluted atmosphere, despite this being a coalition Government, the JD(S) Supremo had issued a stern direction that this evening only his son Kumaranna would take oath. And like an obedient son Kumaraswamy agreed.

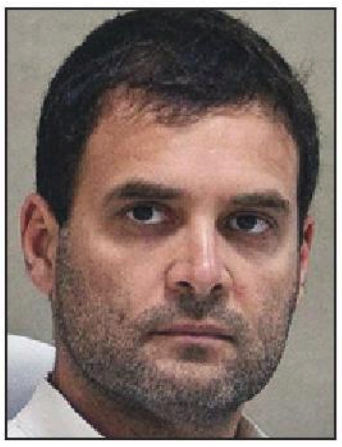
However, at the last moment the Congress has decided to allow G. Parameshwara to take oath, along with Kumaraswamy, as the Deputy Chief Minister. Surprisingly, Deve Gowda could not object.

Deve Gowda thought if his son took the oath alone, he would shine like the sparkling star among the distinguished national leaders whom he had invited. In the meanwhile, if many took oath as Ministers along with Kumaraswamy, it might result in bad omen leading to the displeasure of many Ministerial aspirants and worse, leading to great difficulty in proving the majority in the Assembly. This was Deve Gowda's fear.

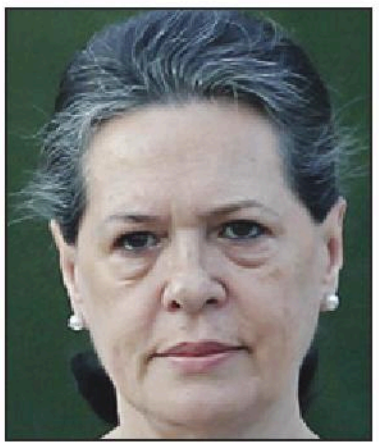
It is natural for any father to seek the success and glory of his son. It is pointless to find fault in this kind of parental sentiment. However, the bitter truth is the inevitability for the Congress party, with a history of 130 years, to capture power in Karnataka at any cost, by any means and even by hook or crook.

H.D. Kumaraswamy

D.K. Shivakumar



Rahul Gandhi



Sonia Gandhi

For Congress, forming this coalition Government in Karnataka is like getting oxygen. In the likely event of being swept away from power in the face of Modi-Shah tsunami, the present coalition with JD(S) is like a life-jacket that a drowning person clutches on !

Hereafter, there would be two High Commands for the State Congress — At Delhi Mother-son and in the State Father-son.

Congress appears worried about losing power in State after State. Of the 30 States, it has power only in Punjab, Pondicherry and a few as partners. Now its dream of winning this election to save Karnataka for itself has also failed. Therefore, keeping in view the ensuing 2019 Lok Sabha election, Congress thinks it would be to its electoral advantage to keep party's presence in the power-corridor of Karnataka, hence this unholy or self-deprecating alliance with JD(S) with much less number of MLAs than itself.

Therefore, the Congress High Command has meekly surrendered to JD(S) offering party's unconditional support and making its MLAs prostrate before Deve Gowda in a most helpless, humbling manner saying, "Mr. Deve Gowda, do whatever you like with them." [ಹಾಲಿಗಾದರೂ ಹಾಕಿ, ನೀರಿಗಾದರೂ ಹಾಕಿ.]

For Congress, forming this coalition Government in Karnataka is like getting oxygen. In the likely event of being swept away from power in the face of Modi-Shah tsunami, the present coalition with JD(S) is like a life-jacket that a drowning person clutches on!

"Let us first make use of the best opportunity we have to save ourselves by joining JD(S) Government, we will decide the future later" seems to be the thinking of the Congress party.

The thinking of the Congress High Command might have also run on these lines — 'Suppose no coalition is made with JD(S) and then the JD(S) forms the Government with the help of BJP, where would Congress be in Karnataka? As it is, there is an on-going plan to form a Third Front by all regional and other opposition parties to put a brake to Modi-Shah Juggernaut.' This might be the scheming of AICC former President Sonia Gandhi and the present President Rahul Gandhi.

The Congress party is in such a pathetic situation in Karnataka today, it seems to hold the view, no matter whatever condition JD(S) puts forward, it is in a hurry to put JD(S) in the seat of power in Karnataka. Congress High Command has asked State Congressmen not to go to Delhi till the coalition Government passes the trust vote, for fear of something going wrong. Which was why HDK went to Delhi alone and met Sonia and Rahul Gandhi.

It is the law of nature that the minority would always support the majority. Like a weak person kowtowing to a strong person. But here the Congress with a majority of 78 MLAs has in a servile manner surrendered to JD(S) with a mere 37 MLAs. This has angered many Congress MLAs. But it is not possible for them to express their disappointment. They consider JD(S) as the usurper of power, but afraid to express their opinion before the Congress High Command. It could be that these enraged MLAs do not want to hurt the mother and son who are already hurt and hence surrendered themselves to absolute silence.

Hereafter, there would be two High Commands for the State Congress — At Delhi Mother-son and in the State Father-son.

This evening these Congress MLAs might be witness to the oath-taking ceremony in an atmosphere of humiliation like the prisoners of war, but when will they be released from the confinement of 5-Star hotels? It is to be seen if this "imprisonment" would continue for another 24 hours till the trust-vote is taken.

Compliments to D.K. Shivakumar, the Congress honcho, who despite difficulties, displaying warrior-like quality, this time too has succeeded in keeping the 78 MLAs in 'safe custody' to prevent possible horse-trading and poaching. But should he be kept out of the Ministry under the pretext of there being a CBI inquiry against him, there is a danger of him revolting. He is not the one to keep quiet whenever his self-esteem is hurt or questioned.

Now, imagine the feeling and the mindset of Siddharamaiah who for the last five years ruled Karnataka in an autocratic manner like a despotic king. On the one hand, the pain of facing defeat in front of the father and son — H.D. Deve Gowda and H.D. Kumaraswamy. On the other hand, he is unable to digest the humiliating decision of the High Command and worse being pushed to a dark corner. These are 'tall people'. VIPs. Because it is raining outside, Congress invited JD(S) to its tent. But like the proverbial Arab and the Camel story, what happens if JD(S) nudges out Congress from its tent, Karnataka, for good in this political rivalry? There is a lingering fear of this kind in Congress High Command as this coalition Government is formed.

Thus, there is absolutely no doubt that in this coalition Government the total advantage is for JD(S) and total loss is for Congress. Being a National Party, Congress should have taken on another National Party BJP head-on. Instead, it seems to have committed a political harakiri in Karnataka.

Incidentally, the conduct of some senior State IAS and IPS Officers who had gone to H.D. Deve Gowda's house to offer respect by 'kneeling' before him seems reprehensible indeed; that too even before his son had taken oath as Chief Minister. Was it necessary to seek his guidance? What kind of culture is this? Is this not a sign of slavery?

"I am everybody's CM and please don't limit me to a particular caste," he said.

On the likelihood of him reneging on the promise of farmers' loan waiver, he said that he will not take a U Turn. "I am committed to waive the loans after seeing the financial health of the State and after discussing the issues with Congress. But I want to assure the farmers today that they need not fear about repaying loans," he said.

On his accessibility after becoming the CM, Kumaraswamy said that the doors are always open for anyone who has a grievance. "Even a manual labourer can come and see me and Vidhana Soudha will be open to all. People can come to my house and meet me. I will keep the doors open from 6 am," he said.

Before he left for Chamundi Hill from the Lalitha Mahal Helipad, the CM designate was received by Mayor B. Bhagyavathi, Former Mayor R. Lingappa, IGP Southern Range Soumendu Mukherjee, Superintendent of Police Amit Singh, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao and DCP Vishnuvardhana.

At the Helipad too, Kumaraswamy spoke to reporters and said that he would provide an honest government and his priority would be to rescue farmers from distress. "I very well know that I will be performing a balancing act every day. Both Congress and JD(S) will form a Common Minimum Programme and there will be a coordination committee to guide the government," he said.

After his visit to Chamundeshwari Temple, Kumaraswamy and Anitha Kumaraswamy drove to Suttur Mutt at the foot of Chamundi Hill and sought the blessings of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji. Kumaraswamy later flew to Ramanagaram and from there, he will reach Bengaluru.

Speaker's election on Thursday

Bengaluru, May 23- Ahead of Friday's Trust Vote, both the Speaker and Deputy Speaker will be elected on Thursday (May 24).

Sources in the Congress said that five-time MLA K.R. Ramesh Kumar, who was elected on Congress ticket from Srinivasapur in Kolar district and who served as Speaker during the H.D. Deve Gowda and J.H. Patel Governments in the State (1994-99) will be the Legislative Assembly Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker will be from the JD(S). Kolar MLA K. Srinivas Gowda and Arakalgud MLA A.T. Ramaswamy are in the race for the post.

Anti-People's Mandate Day by BJP

Mysuru, May 23 (MTY&NNN)- Even as the CM-designate H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) is all ready to be sworn-in as the 25th CM of the State this evening in Bengaluru, the leaders and workers of the BJP protested against the unholy alliance of Congress and JD(S), observing it as 'Anti-People's Mandate Day.'

The leaders and the workers gathered near the statue of Mahatma Gandhi at Gandhi Square here this morning, wearing black bands and some of them even sporting black shirts, raised slogans against the new Government formation.

"The Congress-JD(S) alliance has hijacked the people's mandate and this is nothing but an unholy alliance to grab power. The Congress, in spite of being rejected by the people of the State, has made a backdoor entry just to be in power. The people should teach them a proper lesson," said MLA L. Nagendra.

He said that this unholy alliance will not last long and they will not be able to run the Government even for a few months. "Being the single largest party, we will sit in the Opposition and will not allow any scams or scandals to take place. We will return to power with a majority very soon," he said.

CII launches Project Mysuru Water Positive-2021 at Kempegowdana Katte Lake

Arjun Ranga, Chairman, CII Mysuru and H. Ramakrishne Gowda, Joint Director, District Industries Centre (DIC), Mysuru, performing guddali puja at Kempegowdana Katte Lake as officials from MYKAPS and members of Welfare Association from K.R. Srinivasan IPS Nagar look on.

Mysuru, May 23 - The CSR Project "Mysuru Water Positive by 2021" initiated by CII Mysuru and the District Administration, will bring industries in Mysuru together to rejuvenate and conserve the lakes in and around Mysuru.

H. Ramakrishne Gowda, Joint Director, DIC, Mysuru and Arjun Ranga, Chairman, CII Mysuru performed guddali puja for the project at Kempegowdana Katte Lake near K.R. Srinivasan IPS Nagar, adjacent to Ring Road, on May 21. The rejuvenation of one acre Kempegowdana Katte Lake is being funded by SBI under its CSR initiative.

Speaking on the occasion, Ramakrishne Gowda said, "With the support of the nearby residents associations, the Lake can be restored and maintained well. The Government and the CII can initiate such projects, but it is in the hands of the residents to look after these lakes."

Arjun Ranga, who also spoke said, "It is a great opportunity for us to partner with the Government efforts in making Mysuru the first Water Positive City in India. To achieve this, we need to create a healthier ecosystem to save lakes through rejuvenation, restoration, conservation and maintenance. Mysuru has more than 25 lakes. To begin with we have identified 15 lakes in and around Mysuru, which are well connected. CII Mysuru and its member-companies will work closely with the District Administration towards protection, conservation and sustainable management of lakes in Mysuru."

"Some companies have shown interest and efforts are underway in bringing many more under this project, so that substantial benefit and robust brand image is created for Mysuru," he said.

The identification, survey of lakes and coordination with the industry and implementing agency is being coordinated by Ramakrishne Gowda and CII Mysuru.

The rejuvenation of lake will have desilting, erecting fences, constructing and strengthening the bund around the lake, remove encroachments if any, plant the surrounding with ornamental plants, pave walking path and offer a visual treat for the highway travellers. The project is being implemented by MYKAPS, a spin off organisation of MYRADA.

The members of Welfare association from K.R. Srinivasan IPS Nagar, who were present, assured all support for the maintenance of the lake.

'Research is not just finding something new'

Mysuru, May 23 (US)- "Research is not just finding something new but also utilising earlier research findings to find solutions to day-to-day problems," opined Dr. P.R. Naga Srinivasa, Retired Additional General Manager, BHEL.

He was speaking at a lecture session on 'How to Innovate' as part of the monthly Science lecture series organised by Mysore Science Foundation (MSF) at Maneyangala in Kalamandira premises here recently.

Defining the variants of research, Dr. Naga Srinivasa, showing a box of pencils, said that the cross-section of a simple pencil was changed from triangle to hexagon to get an easy and firmer grip and added that a small eraser was attached to the pencil later to do away with a separate eraser.

He observed that such innovations should follow any research. He pointed out similar changes in TVs, radios, computers and many more items years ago and now.

Regretting that education had become monotonous with no room for thinking, Dr. Naga Srinivasa advised students to hone their skills instead of focusing only on marks.

He observed that any organisation without innovations cannot survive in this competitive world. He also gave a power point presentation on concepts of innovation and interacted with members of audience.

MSF Secretary G.B. Santhosh Kumar and others were present.

Faithful who vowed to see Kumaraswamy as CM

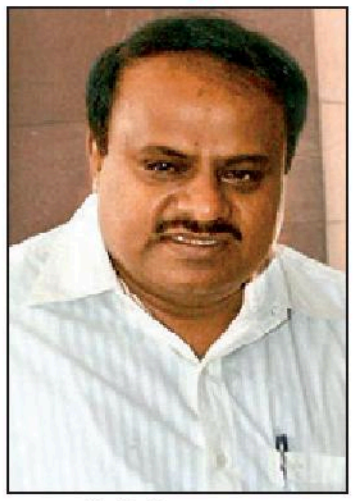
Ramakrishnegowda from Berya to have hair cut after 11 years at Kashi

Berya, May 23 (Mahesh& NNN)- The election season in Karnataka is over for now and so is the time for making vows and fulfilling them. Just as a staunch JD(S) follower who had made a vow that if G.T. Devegowda (GTD) wins from Chamundeshwari constituency and H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) becomes the Chief Minister, he would walk to Tirupati to fulfil the vow, here comes the news about another HDK faithful who wanted to see his beloved leader occupy the CM's post for which he had made vow not to cut his hair or his beard since the last 11 years.

This faithful is Ramakrishnegowda from Meluru village near Berya of K.R. Nagar taluk who when he heard the news that Kumaraswamy is going to be sworn-in as Chief Minister has rejoiced with his family. He was completely impressed with the work done by HDK during his term as the Chief Minister earlier, as he had strongly felt that HDK had worked hard in the interest of farmers and implemented many pro-people programmes.

"After serving as the CM for 20 months, the hope of Kumaraswamy becoming the CM again had almost vanished. After he relinquished power, the spate of farmers' suicides, corruption and the way the poor were being treated had a depressing effect on me. I strongly felt that only if HDK returns to power can such problems be solved," he said.

According to Ramachandregowda, another incident that had an effect on him was when in 2007, former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda (HDD) had fought in the interest of the farmers against the NICE project the then government had not only tried to scuttle the former PM's moves but also called the farmers 'hired goondas' and ridiculed Deve Gowda. "Hence, I then thought that if Kumaraswamy returns to power then the people of the State can live in peace. With this in mind, I went to Sri Yoganarasimhaswamy Temple in Saligrama 11 years ago and made a vow that I will not cut my hair or the beard till my wish of seeing Kumaraswamy as the CM again fructifies," he said.



H. D. Kumaraswamy

Ramakrishnegowda

"One of the best initiatives of HDK was the 'Gram Vastavya' programme. When he went and stayed in the house of an AIDS infected patient, my respect for him grew more. Hence, I am the happiest person to see him return as the CM," he said.

Recalling how he had met Deve Gowda in February 2013 during the latter's visit to Sri Yoganarasimhaswamy Temple in Saligrama, he said that HDD had asked him to cut the matted hair. "But I told him that till your son Kumaraswamy comes back as the CM I will not cut the hair and the beard and HDD had become very emotional on hearing of my resolve," said Ramakrishnegowda with tears in his eyes.

"I have decided that after Kumaraswamy takes oath as the Chief Minister, I will go to Kashi and Melukote and offer my hair to fulfil my vow," he said.

It is not just my vows but also the hard work and prayers of lakhs of JD(S) workers that Kumaraswamy has returned to power. I have the confidence that he will strive hard to work in the interest of the people and the development of the State.

—Ramakrishnegowda, H.D. Kumaraswamy's fan

Ramakrishnegowda is going to participate in the swearing-in ceremony of H.D. Kumaraswamy as his wishes have come true. He has also expressed his wish to straight away go to Kashi from the there. The JD(S) workers have decided to donate money for his pilgrimage to Kashi.

—A.T. Somashekar, Director, MyMUL (Mysore Milk Union Limited)

My father was looking very weird with his matted hair and long beard which was also causing a lot of discomfort among the family members. A few of the relatives were ridiculing him. However, my father was adamant and finally his wishes have come true. We are as happy as my father that Kumaraswamy has become the Chief Minister.

—Gautam, Ramakrishnegowda's son (JD-S Organising Secretary)

Former CM Siddharamaiah pacifies Veerashaiva-Lingayat Cong. MLAs

Bengaluru, May 23- With Veerashaiva-Lingayat MLAs elected from the Congress becoming apprehensive over getting appropriate number of Cabinet berths in the yet to be formed H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK)-led Congress-JD(S) coalition Government, former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah met the Community Legislators at a private hotel in city yesterday, where Congress MLAs have been staying after their return from Hyderabad ahead of Saturday's Floor Test.

Siddharamaiah, who visited the Hotel, spoke in length to the agitated Veerashaiva-Lingayat Congress leaders and asked them to be patient.

On Monday, during the course of Congress Legislative Party (CLP) meeting, the community MLAs had demanded a Deputy Chief Minister's (Dy.CM) post and five Cabinet berths for the community, it is learnt.

Also, some MLAs, especially from Vijayapura district, had also warned Siddharamaiah against making former Minister M.B. Patil as Dy.CM or a Minister, accusing him (M.B. Patil) of trying to defeat them in the just concluded Assembly polls. They had also warned of quitting their seats if M.B. Patil is made the Dy.CM, it is also learnt.

HDK couple visit Dharmasthala

'There is no question of unholiness when we have the numbers'

CM-designate H.D. Kumaraswamy, accompanied by his wife Anitha Kumaraswamy, offering prayers at Lord Manjunatheshwara Swamy Temple in Dharmasthala yesterday as Dr. Veerendra Heggade looks on.

Mangaluru, May 23- Even as his temple-run continued for the third day yesterday, Chief Minister-designate H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) maintained that there was no question of unholiness when the Congress-JD(S) combine had the numbers.

Speaking to press-persons here after visiting Dharmasthala and Sringeri yesterday, Kumaraswamy said that his Government would last until it enjoyed majority in the Legislative Assembly.

Reiterating that the question of holy or unholy alliance does not arise here, the State JD(S) President and CM-designate said that he has been visiting temples to pray for good rains and welfare of the State.

Observing that Congress-JD(S) coalition Government was due to divine blessings, he sought the co-operation of Legislators, political leaders for all-round development of the State.

Pointing out that as head of the coalition Government, he has the responsibility of fulfilling the pre-poll promises of both the Congress and JD(S), Kumaraswamy, reacting to BJP leaders comments that the coalition would not last long, retorted that the Government would last until it had the blessings of the Almighty.

Kumaraswamy, after having darshan of Lord Manjunatheshwara Swamy in Dharamasthala, visited Sringeri, where he took part in Chandika Yaga at Sharadamba Temple.

Meanwhile, Telangana Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao (KCR) of the TRS, a master strategist that he is, chose to personally congratulate CM-designate HDK yesterday, a day before the swearing-in ceremony. Rao returned to Hyderbad last night itself.

Rao's action is seen as a strategic move to avoid sharing dais with top Congress leaders Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, which would have otherwise sent wrong political signals in his home State of Telangana.

WORD OF THE DAY

Schadenfreude

Pronunciation: .SHAH:dən:froy:də

Meaning: Enjoyment obtained from the troubles of others.

Origin: This lovely word, so useful for describing the human condition, is taken directly from the German. It first appears in English print in 1842, in a book on psychology by a man with the enviable name of Samuel Simon Schmucker: "What the Germans term schadenfreude, a malicious pleasure in the misfortune or sufferings of others." For a number of decades the word was only used in reference to German vocabulary, but by the end of the 19th century it had become more or less naturalised (or at least was awarded a green card), and it simply used as an English word.

Schadenfreude might not belong on this list, in that it seems to have changed from a word that requires explanation to a word that is widely used and commonly understood. However, it has a synonym, epicaricacy, that appeared in a small number of 18th century dictionaries but has failed to enjoy the same success. So if you want to describe your feelings of glee when you see someone fall into a puddle of mud, but don't want to use an almost-common word, you may instead use epicaricacy.

THE ODD WORD

Bumbo

A drink of rum, sugar, water, and nutmeg.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A Knight in Shining Armour

Meaning: A person, usually a man, who comes to the aid of another, usually a woman, in a gallant and courteous manner.

Origin: The present-day use of this phrase is, of course, figurative and refers back to the notion of gallant knights saving fair maidens in distress. The reality behind that imagery is dubious and it no doubt owes much to the work of those Victorian novelists and painters who were captivated by the chivalrous ideal of an imagined court of Camelot. Nevertheless, knights did wear armour and that worn by royalty and the high nobility was highly polished and did in fact gleam and shine.

The earliest reference that I've found to the phrase in print dates from the late 18th century - in The British journal The Monthly Review, 1790, in a poem called Amusement: A Poetical Essay, by Henry Pye:

No more the knight, in shining armour dress'd
Opposes to the pointed lance his breast.
